

Sally in Scotland

After Sally's vacation in Scotland she wants to buy some souvenirs for her friends and family. So she goes to the souvenir shop and looks around.
Start with number 1.

- 1 Sally loves Scottish food. Haggis is a national dish and made from minced sheep's meat. You can eat it with mashed potatoes and vegetables. But Sally wants to buy the version that looks like a big sausage.
- 2 Yes, this hat looks great! Now she almost looks like a Scot. Only the bagpipes are missing! Can you find them?
- 3 Yes, this is the green skirt. Sally likes the tartan pattern. She also wants to buy a tartan hat. This time she wants to buy a red one.
- 4 No, it's a Scottish Terrier, but a black one. Go back to number 6.
- 5 Yes! This is the national dish called haggis. Now Sally wants to buy the Scottish flag. It is blue and has got a white cross on it.
- 6 Yes, here are the bagpipes. For her little sister Sally wants to buy a cuddly toy. There are three different ones: a horse, a white dog and a black dog. Sally wants to buy the white Scottish Terrier.
- 7 Sorry, a Scottish Terrier is not a horse! Go back to number 6.
- 8 This isn't haggis. It's a jacket potato. Go back to number 1.
- 9 Oh no, this is only a bag. We are looking for an instrument! Go back to number 2.
- 10 Great! Sally loves shortbread fingers. This is everything Sally wants to buy. She pays and says goodbye.
- 11 Oh no, this doesn't look like a sausage. Go back to number 1.
- 12 This is not the right hat. Go back to number 3.

13 Correct! You've found the Scottish flag! Sally also wants to buy some clothes. What about a green skirt?

14 No, this is the red skirt. Go back to number 13.

15 Yes, this is the white Scottish Terrier. The last thing Sally wants to bring back to England is her favourite biscuit – shortbread. She especially likes shortbread fingers. They are called fingers, because they look like fingers.

16 Sorry, this is the flag of the United Kingdom. Go back to number 5.

17 No. These are called shortbread petticoat tails. Go back to number 15.
